Global Compliance Technology Leader, Mitratesch, Elevates Market Position with Dual Acquisitions of Syntrio and Mineral

Ethics hotlines & reporting, real-time compliance alerts, and more to join Mitratesch's existing portfolio, unveiling the market's most complete and scalable compliance suite

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 09, 2024 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Mitratesch, a global compliance technology leader for legal, risk, and HR teams, is thrilled to announce the expansion of its portfolio through the acquisition of two companies: Syntrio, a leader in compliance training, ethics hotlines, and reporting; and Mineral, a world-class provider of predictive HR and compliance services.

The combination of Syntrio and Mineral, alongside Mitratesch's cutting-edge solutions in enterprise legal management, policy management, workflow automation, and more, presents the market's most complete and integrated compliance suite. Acquired technologies and services include a world-class ethics reporting hotline, comprehensive HR and compliance platform, access to personalized HR compliance guidance from certified experts, intelligent eLearning libraries (featuring more than 1,000 training courses on ethics, employment law, etc.), and automated regulatory alerts. This new depth in Mitratesch's portfolio allows unique and tailored solutions that cater to organizations of every size and complexity.

"Syntrio and Mineral's combined wealth of expertise and excellence in human-centric compliance brings the scalability of our Mitratesch portfolio to a new level — an advantage our clients have come to depend on in today's fast-paced risk and regulatory environment," said Mitratesch CEO Mike Williams. "Whether you are a company with 100 employees or a Fortune 100 enterprise, your operational resilience and reputation depend on your ability to establish a culture of compliance that reaches every corner of your organization. Through these acquisitions, our customers are equipped with everything they need to identify, communicate, train, and adhere to the compliance requirements of today, plus the analytics and services to iterate on and scale best practices into the future. All in one place, and all with one trusted partner."

In addition to creating a more holistic learning environment for employees through training and development programs, these acquisitions mark Mitratesch's most significant step forward in elevating operational performance through business analytics and integrated reporting since its announcement of PlatoBI earlier this year. Equipped with deeper insights into (and across) compliance status, employee training progress, legal exposure, and more, Mitratesch clients and partners can now leverage the data available through product use to address their organization's risks faster, control both HR and legal costs, reallocate time to higher-value work, and maintain compliance as they scale.
